

HAZELDEN PRESENTS

First Responders and Addiction

Learn from leading experts as they address addiction among public safety and emergency services employees. Key topics include addressing the matters that impact the personal and professional lives of these employees, discussing potential roadblocks in getting those in crisis the assistance they need, and identifying resource options available to employees and their families.

Friday, June 10, 2011
9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m.

$25 per person includes lunch

Courtyard Marriott Bellevue
11010 NE 8th Street
Bellevue, Washington 98004

Supporting the mission of

Please RSVP by June 3 to betsyh@hazelden.org or 503-554-4383.

HAZELDEN PRESENTS

First Responders and Addiction

Sean Riley, is the founder and executive director of Safe Call Now, a confidential, comprehensive, 24-hour crisis referral service for public safety employees, emergency services personnel, and their family members nationwide. After a nearly 20-year police career, Sean founded Safe Call Now to provide an outlet for emergency and public safety employees to reach out for help.

Laura Ferguson, M.D., an addiction psychiatrist at Hazelden's Springbrook center, is certified in both General Psychiatry and Addiction Psychiatry through the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology. Dr. Ferguson has recently served as director and psychiatrist for the Women's Trauma and Recovery Center at the Seattle VA, a clinic composed of a Post Traumatic Stress Disorder (trauma) track and an addiction track.

We look forward to seeing you there!

Remember to RSVP by June 3 to betsyh@hazelden.org or 503-554-4383.

Hazelden, a national nonprofit organization founded in 1949, helps people reclaim their lives from the disease of addiction.

Learn more today.

hazelden.org/springbrook
866-866-4662

We invite you to call us with questions.
We are available 24 hours a day.